NAVY SEAL TRAINING

Navy Special Operations conducted cold water training in Puget Sound for over thirty years. This training took place in the waters and on the shoreline of Department of Defense property, on specially requested private property, and, until recently, in five Washington State Parks. Currently a legal challenge is blocking progress on these trainings. The Navy League councils in the Pacific Northwest invites the Pacific Northwest Defense Coalition community to voice their opinions on this matter to the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission as listed below.
